Postwar America

1. How does each of the authors describe the problems associated with postwar problems?

1. Problems: Millions of returning veterans and millions of youth are finding themselves without jobs.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration and Congress	Congress passed the United States Housing Act, guaranteeing veterans a year's worth of unemployment benefits while job hunting. It offered unemployment benefits, guaranteed loans.
---	---

2. Problems: Severe housing shortage.

Solutions offered by developers such as William Levitt	Levitt used assembly-line techniques to build houses, offering homes for small residential communities called suburbs for less than $17,500.
Solutions offered by the Truman and Eisenhower administrations	The Truman and Eisenhower administrations provided financial support for urban renewal and housing, setting aside for low-income families.

3. Problems: Severe inflation.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration and Congress	Congress passed Truman Administration's recommendations, which called for the economy, including the price, wages, and profits.

4. Problems: Labor unions that threaten to supply the nation.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration	Truman's administration said the nation's workers could be able to refuse to work on the job. He called on the federal government to union that threat. And President he later issued an executive order, for the very first time, to send the threat.

5. Problems: Discrimination and racial violence.

Solutions offered by the Truman administration	The Truman administration passed an anti-discrimination act that said that all federal, state, and local government, as well as private organizations, integration, and employment, should not use for discrimination in the federal government employment.
--	---

6. Explaining the significance of leaders in, Eisenhower, and Paul Dean.

Leaders	The leaders were asked to build the nation's future by helping to build a better housing shortage.
