Leverage Data Streams for Better Operational Decision-Making Christoph Prinz,2023-05-31 Smart sustainable mobility ecosystems promise to address society s expectation of environmentally friendly on demand mobility While the technology stack to build such ecosystems is just around the corner in the form of connected automated and electric vehicles strategies to deploy and operate such fleets in a coordinated manner must still be advanced Most of such optimization challenges highly depend on the nature of customer demand vehicle supply and environmental influences Hence this dissertation investigates how available data streams from mobility ecosystems can be leveraged in Information Systems to solve related decision problems The overarching goal of this work is to generate design knowledge to improve vehicle availability provider profitability and environmental sustainability for such ecosystems Applying quantitative methods to real world data from shared vehicle systems generates insights into the nature of demand and supply Combining it with an analysis of empirical research on vehicle relocation algorithms builds the foundation for two artifact designs The first artifact enables the development and simulation based evaluation of operation modes for vehicle fleets The second artifact enables artificial intelligence based decision support for the vehicle rebalancing problem The insights are finally incorporated and generalized to a nascent design theory on data enabled operational decision making in the context of smart sustainable mobility environments The findings have multifaceted implications for researchers concerned with data enabled value creation in Green IS shared economy and smart mobility and business analytics and data science Furthermore guidance for fleet providers to improve system attractiveness and for society to experience the potential amount of vehicle access without personal ownership is provided

Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing Jürgen Hesselbach, Christoph Herrmann, 2011-03-19 The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 continues a long tradition of scientific meetings focusing on the exchange of industrial and academic knowledge and experiences in life cycle assessment product development sustainable manufacturing and end of life management The theme Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing addresses the need for engineers to develop solutions which have the potential to address global challenges by providing products services and processes taking into account local capabilities and constraints to achieve an economically socially and environmentally sustainable society in a global perspective Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing do not only involve products or services that are changed for a local market by simple substitution or the omitting of functions Products and services need to be addressed that ensure a high standard of living everywhere Resources required for manufacturing and use of such products are limited and not evenly distributed in the world Locally available resources local capabilities as well as local constraints have to be drivers for product and process innovations with respect to the entire life cycle The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 serves as a platform for the discussion of the resulting challenges and the collaborative development of new scientific ideas
