Give Constructions across Languages Myriam Bouveret, 2021-03-15 This cognitive contrastive study of ten languages Chinese Dalabon English French Spanish Romanian Kurdish Khmer Polish Tibetan focuses on the concept of giving from six main points of view namely argument structure lexical semantics and event structure role marking in the three argument construction and in other constructions lexicalization grammaticalization and constructionalization of the verb from a cognitive construction grammar point of view and central and extended meanings It is proposed that a continuum approach to grammar and lexicon is needed in order to describe the typological and historical facts The volume argues for a concrete and abstract transfer cluster model involving coverage of lexical and grammatical extension or bleaching phenomena and that the semantic extensions metaphorical and otherwise exploit various portions of this schema The volume is deeply anchored in the Cognitive Construction Grammar theoretical movement and proposes analyses of constructional phenomena to illustrate a grammar to lexicon continuum in synchrony and diachrony language change grammaticalization chains constructionalization analysis and an invariant hypothesis of giving as a basic activity in human cognition Sound, Syntax and Contact in the Languages of Asturias Guillermo Lorenzo, 2022-03-01 This is the first generative oriented volume ever published about Asturian and Asturian Galician two Romance languages which along with their intrinsic interest are crucial to understand the parametric distance between Spanish and Galician Portuguese Its chapters offer new insights about old puzzles like pronominal enclisis or apparent violations of bans on clitic combinatorics but they also deal with less explored grounds like aspect negation or prosody Chapters make special emphasis on how the concerned issues result from complex interactions between syntax proper and its interfaces with sound and meaning The book focuses on particular aspects of Asturian and Asturian Galician as well as on some effects of their contact with Spanish in their corresponding locations

Force Majeure and the Law: Acts of God in Comparative and Historical Perspective Thomas D.

Musgrave,2025-04-08 This book examines how the Roman French and English legal systems have each dealt with the issue of unforeseen supervening events which have rendered the performance of contractual obligations either impossible or fundamentally different in nature sometimes known as Force Majeure or Acts of God Although the Roman French and English laws of contract have each developed legal rules which address this issue the approach adopted by each system is significantly different from that of the others The thesis of this book is that the response of a legal system to unforeseen supervening events derives primarily from the nature and structure of that legal system as a whole and then within that broader context from the salient characteristics of that system s particular law of contract The work compares the differing nature and structure of the Roman French and English legal systems and their respective laws of contract in order to demonstrate how this is so The book will be a valuable guide for academics and researchers working in the areas of Comparative Law Legal History Legal Theory and Contract Law As the English approach to unforeseen supervening events is very different from that of the French the book will be of benefit both to English and to French practitioners as they seek to understand how supervening events are dealt with across the Channel It will also appeal to law students as a guide for studying comparative law Epistemology of Experimental Gravity - Scientific Rationality Nicolae Sfetcu,2019 The evolution of gravitational tests from an epistemological perspective framed in the concept of rational reconstruction of Imre Lakatos based on his methodology of research programmes Unlike other works on the same subject the evaluated period is very extensive starting with Newton s natural philosophy and up to the quantum gravity theories of today In order to explain in a more rational way the complex evolution of the gravity concept of the last century I propose a natural extension of the methodology of the research programmes of Lakatos that I then use during the paper I believe that this approach offers a new perspective on how evolved over time the concept of gravity and the methods of testing each theory of gravity through observations and experiments I argue based on the methodology of the research programmes and the studies of scientists and philosophers that the current theories of quantum gravity are degenerative due to the lack of experimental evidence over a long period of time and of self immunization against the possibility of falsification Moreover a methodological current is being developed that assigns a secondary unimportant role to verification through observations and or experiments For this reason it will not be possible to have a complete theory of quantum gravity in its current form which to include to the limit the general relativity since physical theories have always been adjusted during their evolution based on observational or experimental tests and verified by the predictions made Also contrary to a widespread opinion and current active programs regarding the unification of all the fundamental forces of physics in a single final theory based on string theory I argue that this unification is generally unlikely and it is not possible anyway for a unification to be developed based on current theories of quantum gravity including string theory In addition I support the views of some scientists and philosophers that currently too much resources are being consumed on the idea of developing quantum gravity theories and in particular string theory to include general relativity and to unify gravity with other forces as long as science does not impose such research programs

Eisenberg, 2018-10-15 Though Mill has been the subject of an imposing volume of scholarship his philosophy of history has received scant attention This inquiry considers the role of history in Mill s break from the Benthamite radicals his effort to define a methodology for the study of society modelled on the natural sciences and his speculations about the course and meaning of history A dominant theme is Mill s struggle to reconcile his ambition to develop a comprehensive science of society with his convictions that human nature is malleable and that history progresses as a consequence of intellectual achievement and diversity of beliefs Mill s compatibilist vision of the individual as driven by deterministic psychological laws and as also capable of freely choosing a life of autonomous self culture was mirrored in his philosophy of history as Mill retained the materialistic stadial theory of social development proposed during the Scottish Enlightenment and an idealistic vision of history derived from the Saint

Simonians Guizot and Comte Though Mill claimed the primacy of the intellect in advancing material living conditions he believed that the culmination of instrumental rationalism in his own Age of Commerce was undermining and marginalizing other forms of individual accomplishment indeed individuality itself in the suffocating conformity of mass culture Mindful of what he considered to be the culturally stationary states of Asia Mill dreaded the prospect that a commercial culture with no higher ambition than the acquisition of ever greater wealth would also become inert as the consequence of overbearing social conventions and intellectual stagnation Like Smith and Ricardo Mill anticipated the inevitability of the economically stationary state as the consequence of the fall in the rate of profits under free market capitalism but rather than await its arrival Mill seized on its possibilities The stationary state became Mill s vehicle for advocating an egalitarian supra subsistence economy in the expectation that cultural priorities would shift to the pursuit of higher moral intellectual and aesthetic aspirations and the revitalization of individual autonomy

The Social Dynamics of Pronominal Systems Paul Bouissac,2019-07-15 Personal pronouns have a special status in languages As indexical tools they are the means by which languages and persons intimately interface with each other within a particular social structure Pronouns involve more than mere grammatical functions in live communication acts They variously signal the gender of speakers as parts of utterances or in their anaphoric roles They also prominently indicate with a range of degrees the kind of social relationships that hold between speakers from intimacy to indifference from dominance to submission and from solidarity to hostility Languages greatly vary in the number of pronouns and other address terms they offer to their users with a distinct range of social values Children learn their relative position in their family and in their society through the correct use of pronouns When languages come into contact because of population migrations or through the process of translation pronouns are the most sensitive zone of tension both psychologically and politically This volume endeavours to probe the comparative pragmatics of pronominal systems as social processes in a representative set from different language families and cultural areas

Function Spaces and Operators between them José Bonet, David Jornet, Pablo Sevilla-Peris, 2023-10-28 The aim of this work is to present in a unified and reasonably self contained way certain aspects of functional analysis which are needed to treat function spaces whose topology is not derived from a single norm their topological duals and operators between those spaces We treat spaces of continuous analytic and smooth functions as well as sequence spaces Operators of differentiation integration composition multiplication and partial differential operators between those spaces are studied A brief introduction to Laurent Schwartz s theory of distributions and to Lars Hörmander s approach to linear partial differential operators is presented The novelty of our approach lies mainly on two facts First of all we show all these topics together in an accessible way stressing the connection between them Second we keep it always at a level that is accessible to beginners and young researchers Moreover parts of the book might be of interest for researchers in functional analysis and operator theory Our aim is not to build and describe a whole complete theory but to serve as an introduction to some aspects that we believe are interesting We wish to guide any reader that wishes to enter in some of these topics in their first steps Our hope is that they learn interesting aspects of functional analysis and become interested to broaden their knowledge about function and sequence spaces and operators between them The text is addressed to students at a master level or even undergraduate at the last semesters since only knowledge on real and complex analysis is assumed We have intended to be as self contained as possible and wherever an external citation is needed we try to be as precise as we can Our aim is to be an introduction to topics in or connected with different aspects of functional analysis Many of them are in some sense classical but we tried to show a unified direct approach some others are new This is why parts of these lectures might be of some interest even for researchers in related areas of functional analysis or operator theory There is a full chapter about transitive and mean ergodic operators on locally convex spaces This material is new in book form It is a novel approach and can be of interest for researchers in the area
