Writing and Learning in Cross-national Perspective David Foster,2017-10-03 Despite the increasingly global implications of conversations about writing and learning U S composition studies has devoted little attention to cross national perspectives on student writing and its roles in wider cultural contexts Caught up in our own concerns about how U S students make the transition as writers from secondary school to postsecondary education we often overlook the fact that students around the world are undergoing the same evolution How do the students in China England France Germany Kenya or South Africa the educational systems represented in this collection write their way into the communities of their chosen disciplines How for instance do students whose mother tongue is not the language of instruction cope with the demands of academic and discipline specific writing And in what ways is U S students development as academic writers similar to or different from that of students in other countries With this collection editors David Foster and David R Russell broaden the discussion about the role of writing in various educational systems and cultures Students development as academic writers raises issues of student authorship and agency as well as larger issues of educational access institutional power relations system goals and students roles in society The contributors to this collection discuss selected writing purposes and forms characteristic of a specific national education system describe students agency as writers and identify contextual factors social economic linguistic cultural that shape institutional responses to writing development In discussions that bookend these studies of different educational structures the editors compare U S postsecondary writing practices and pedagogies with those in other national systems and suggest new perspectives for cross national study of learning writing issues important to all educational systems Given the worldwide increase in students entering higher education and the endless need for effective writing across disciplines and nations the insights offered here and the call for further studies are especially welcome and timely Excel Preliminary English

Young Adult and Canonical Literature Paula Greathouse, Victor Malo-Juvera, 2021-03-15 In the last decade alone the world has changed in seismic ways as marriage equality has been ruled on by the supreme court social justice issues such as metoo and BlackLivesMatter have arisen and issues of immigration and deportation have come to the forefront of politics across the globe Thus there is a need for an updated text that shares strategies for combining canonical and young adult literature that reflects the changes society has and continues to experience The purpose of our collection is to offer secondary 6 12 teachers engaging ideas and approaches for pairing young adult and canonical novels to provide unique examinations of topics that teaching either text in isolation could not afford Our collection does not center canonical texts and most chapters show how both texts complement each other rather than the young adult text being only an extension of the canonical Within each volume the chapters are organized chronologically according to the publication date of the canonical text The pairings offered in this collection allow for comparisons in some cases for extensions in others and for critique in all Volume 2 covers The Canterbury Tales 1392 through Fallen Angels 1988

Restorative Literacy Practices Deirdre Faughey, 2023 What happens when learning is approached as a transaction between teachers students texts and methods Based on classroom action research conducted in a diverse suburban school district the author shares a framework that encourages teachers to approach their work with a restorative mindset by focusing on four elements of instruction methods literature relationships and culture identity and language In each chapter Faughey shares a scenario or problem from her ELA classroom the action she took to address it and the outcomes Examples include a 9th grade classroom where students developed podcasts to share their thinking about Romeo and Juliet a 10th grade classroom where multilingual learners created graphic essays to share their comparative analysis of Things Fall Apart and the film Black Panther and a 12th grade classroom where students reimaged Dracula in order to connect personally with the text through restorying This accessible text provides resources lesson plans and examples of student work as well as suggestions for teacher preparation programs Book Features Shares the perspective of a classroom teacher who understands the daily interactions teachers have with students as well as the possibilities and limitations of teaching in today s schools Demonstrates a problem solving thought process with a step by step explanation of the author s teaching process Includes vivid anecdotes about students pictures of students working together and examples of student work Situates each scenario within a body of theoretical and research literature introducing concepts such as cosmopolitan theory reader response theory and literary theory Offers lesson plans rubrics and handouts that teachers can use to inform their own practice Provides lists of podcasts videos articles and books that can be used when teaching classic texts such as Dubliners The Great Gatsby and The Yellow Wallpaper
