Nitrogen in the Marine Environment Douglas G. Capone,Deborah A. Bronk,Margaret R. Mulholland,Edward J. Carpenter,2008-08-01 Since the first edition of Nitrogen in the Marine Environment was published in 1983 it has been recognized as the standard in the field In the time since the book first appeared there has been tremendous growth in the field with unprecedented discoveries over the past decade that have fundamentally changed the view of the marine nitrogen cycle. As a result, this Second Edition contains twice the amount of information that the first edition contained. This updated edition is now available online, offering searchability and instant multi-user access to this important information. The classic text, fully updated to reflect the rapid pace of discovery, provides researchers and students in oceanography, chemistry, and marine ecology an understanding of the marine nitrogen cycle. Available online with easy access and search, the information you need when you need it.

Impact of Artificial Reefs on the Environment and Communities Ramos, Jorge H. P., 2022-05-13. Among the most important reasons that artificial reefs have been created are the protection of the seabed with macroalgae, the possibility of improving fishing, and meeting the expectations and demands of tourists. Coastal managers have realized that it is important that artificial reefs are useful to people, especially local communities, and that it is therefore important that they are promoted by government entities for various professional and leisure activities. Coastal managers must take this into consideration when reefs are designed. They must also define the ecosystem services they promote, as well as the main uses for which the reefs are created. Impact of Artificial Reefs on the Environment and Communities presents insights on the connection between artificial reefs and the tourism industry in order to encourage the sharing of experiences and development of new innovative possibilities that create value for society. It presents the experiences, testimonies, and innovations of those who work closely with artificial reefs. Covering topics such as computational fluid dynamics, dive tourism, and Industry 4.0, this book is an essential resource for entrepreneurs, researchers, students, and educators of higher education, coastal managers, government officials, leaders in tourism, engineers, and academicians.

Handbook of Ecological Models used in Ecosystem and Environmental Management Sven Erik Jorgensen, 2016-04-19. It is estimated that roughly 1000 new ecological and environmental models join the ranks of the scientific literature each year. The international peer-reviewed literature reports some 20 000 new models spanning the period from 1970-2010. Just to keep abreast of the field, it is necessary to design a handbook of models that doesn't merely list them.

Responsibilities and Liabilities for Commercial Activity in the Arctic Vibe Ulfbeck, Anders Møllmann, Bent Ole Gram Mortensen, 2016-03-02. Given the magnitude of the risks associated with commercial activities in the Arctic arising as a result of the milder climate, new business opportunities raise important questions of responsibility and liability. This book analyses the issues of responsibility and liability connected with the exploitation of natural resources, marine transport, and other activities in the Arctic. Applying a combined private and public law perspective on these issues, it considers both the business and societal interests related to Arctic development, using Greenland as an example. The book focuses on problems that are specific to Greenland and wider issues that affect all Arctic states.

Maritime Delimitation Rainer Lagoni, Daniel Vignes, 2006-06-01. The delimitation of maritime zones is an important requirement for peaceful relations between neighbouring States. There are numerous examples of areas between States with opposite or adjacent coasts where sovereignty over an island or territory may not be contested but the delimitation of the continental shelf and exclusive economic zone is still pending Under the Law of the Sea Convention the delimitation of these zones shall be effected by agreement on the basis of international law However the Convention does not offer a definitive answer as to the methods that should be applied This publication includes contributions by Judges of the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea eminent scholars and experienced practitioners The papers deal with various aspects of maritime delimitation the jurisprudence of international courts and tribunals and their relevance for delimitation the impact of the Law of the Sea Convention the role of legal practitioners and diplomatic negotiators and delimitation under particular geological circumstances and in geographically complex regional situations It is designed to provide insight and guidance to the complicated process of maritime delimitation

The Protection of the Underwater Cultural Heritage

Sarah Dromgoole, 2006 This volume comprises a collection of sixteen national perspectives on law policy and practice in respect of the underwater cultural heritage written in light of the UNESCO Convention 2001 The essays provide an up to date account of the current legal position in each jurisdiction as well as considering the impact that the 2001 Convention is having and is likely to have in the future As well as being internationally recognised experts in the field all the contributors have specialist knowledge and practical experience of their own particular jurisdictions
