Brain Functions Robert Miller,Alexey M Ivanitsky,2000-05-30 There are many difficulties hindering western scientists from becoming acquainted with Russian scientific literature including both political and language barriers Russian science has a long and proud tradition going back as far as Peter the Great and the founding of the Russian Academy of Science in 1725 However Russian neuroscientists from th Holt Science: Teacher's edition Joseph Abruscato,1989 Drinking

Behavior J. Weijnen,2012-12-06 This is the first book that is devoted entirely to a discussion of the effects on drinking behavior of sensory stimulation of the tongue and mouth As Blass and Hall J 976 have recently pointed out there has been an overrejection of the emphasis by Cannon 1932 and Hull 1943 on the peripheral origins e g dry mouth empty stomach of the control of ingestive behavior Thus most present day investigators of drinking behavior have been concentrating on central mechanisms of control to the neglect of the periphery In this volume we have attempted to bring together much of the pertinent peripheral literature through originally written chapters that are concerned with the role of orosensory factors in the mediation of drinking and licking Postingestive effects of fluids receive little attention Indeed two chapters deal with consummatory licking in the absence of intake of fluids A good understanding of the consequences of orosensory stimulation on licking and drinking behavior requires insight into the functional anatomy of the tongue and mouth the characteristics of the licking response and the problem of recording of licking behavior Several chapters deal with these subjects It has not only been a pleasure but also a privilege to edit this volume We have learned much from the expert treatment of the different aspects of licking and drinking behavior by the chapters authors Electrical Review and Western Electrician ,1911

Neural Network Models of Conditioning and Action Michael L. Commons,Stephen Grossberg,John Staddon,2016-09-19 Originally published in 1991 this title was the result of a symposium held at Harvard University It presents some of the exciting interdisciplinary developments of the time that clarify how animals and people learn to behave adaptively in a rapidly changing environment The contributors focus on aspects of how recognition learning reinforcement learning and motor learning interact to generate adaptive goal oriented behaviours that can satisfy internal needs an area of inquiry as important for understanding brain function as it is for designing new types of freely moving autonomous robots Since the authors agree that a dynamic analysis of system interactions is needed to understand these challenging phenomena and neural network models provide a natural framework for representing and analysing such interactions all the articles either develop neural network models or provide biological constraints for guiding and testing their design Electrical World ,1905
