

Strongly recommend that you prepare the following questions in advance

Statistical inference uses 2 different ways to summarize data. It either begins with a set of observed data, and either population or sample data (and then attempts to find the same same population or sample). These data (being a set of the observed data) can be used to a population of study. However, the data is divided up into 2 different subpopulations and statistical inference is used to find the relationship between the sample population regarding themselves, and what effect does the population have on the subpopulation.

Exercise 1: Population and Sample Data and Subpopulations

1. Answer as asked to:

a. Which data source is the largest?
