

Population Distributions

How does population distribution affect the outcome?

Why?

Alaska's population is 0.7 million, almost completely rural. It is the largest state in the United States, yet with a population of under 1,000,000 people it has the same congressional representation as Arizona, Texas, New Jersey or one of the smallest states and fewer in population (it's under 1 million) than almost 1/3 of them. Of the 11,000,000 total land acres are considered nonincorporated. What are the reasons that this large population state's legislative representation is affected more than representative states are?
