Guidelines for Open Pit and Waste Dump Closure provides a benchmark reference for geotechnical and hydrogeological professionals and other closure stakeholders involved in assessing and implementing the closure of open pits and waste dumps It defines a state of best practice geotechnical and hydrological pathway that reflects current industry wide experience considers the perspectives of the operator regulator and community and encompasses closure planning design implementation and monitoring Written by industry experts and practitioners Guidelines for Open Pit and Waste Dump Closure is the sixth in a series of books developed by the Large Open Pit LOP Project Focused on the technical challenges related to geology geotechnical engineering water and geochemistry it covers the key aspects that relate to closure of open pits and waste dumps including planning long term physical and chemical stability and post mining land use PMLU The book also includes workflows that provide clarity on geotechnical and hydrogeological assessments relating to closure planning definition of pragmatic objectives and measures of success implementation and monitoring for open pits and waste dumps for closure and how these may interact with adjacent land uses Drawing on global lessons learned on mine closure over a period of more than 30 years this comprehensive guide uses industry experience to set out a road map to closure and potentially relinquishment of open pits and waste dumps It will be invaluable for mine closure practitioners corporate planners mine management mining engineers and technical staff mine stakeholders and regulators Assessing Bacterial Growth Potential in Seawater Reverse Osmosis Pretreatment Almotasembellah Abushaban,2019-12-09 Seawater desalination is increasingly being used as a means to augment freshwater supplies in regions with high water stress and reverse osmosis is increasingly the technology of choice because of the low energy consumption However seawater reverse osmosis SWRO systems suffer from various types of fouling which can increase energy consumption and the use of chemicals during SWRO operation In practice pre treatment systems are put in place to reduce the particulate and biological fouling potential of SWRO feed water However simple reliable and accurate methods to assess the extent to which biological fouling potential is reduced during pre treatment are not available for seawater This research developed a new method to measure bacterial growth potential BGP using the native bacterial consortium in seawater New reagents to extract and detect ATP in microbial cells were specifically developed for seawater The new lysis and detection reagents overcame the salt interference in seawater and allow low detection of total ATP free ATP and microbial ATP in seawater Incorporating a filtration step further increased the sensitivity of the method six fold enabling ATP detection of ultra low levels of microbial ATP in seawater The newly developed ATP based BGP method was applied to monitor and assess the pre treatment of five full scale seawater desalination plants around the world A good correlation was observed between BGP measured in SWRO feed water and the pressure drop increase in the SWRO systems suggesting the applicability of using the ATP based BGP method as a biofouling indicator in SWRO Furthermore a safe level of BGP In the future on line monitoring of BGP in SWRO feed water may further reduce the consumption of chemicals and energy and improve the overall sustainability of seawater desalination by reverse osmosis Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1988 Advances in Water Desalination Noam Lior,2012-10-26
