participated for their students seeking higher education. Students at the University were selected to participate and numerous letters were sent to inform them. Finally, the 1000 participants were invited to attend the 2000 Symposium and 1000th anniversary celebration held in 2000. The University was the first to offer a celebration event. However, the event was not held in 2000.

However, in mid-early 1970s, mainstream American mainstreamers began to turn their backs on the party and the movement. In 1972, all American mainstream press published a story by a mainstream writer, who was the president of the American Psychological Association, that the American Psychological Association was not a part of the movement. The story was published in the Washington Post, the largest newspaper in the country. It was a major blow to the movement.
