Operational Working Group

The Operational Working Group (OWG) was established in 2013 to oversee the implementation of the Operational Plan. The OWG is a cross-functional group of senior managers from across the company, including representatives from the Executive Committee, the Board of Directors, and the various business units. The OWG's primary responsibility is to ensure that the Operational Plan is effectively implemented and that the company's operational performance is consistently strong.

The OWG meets regularly to review progress against the Operational Plan and to identify any areas where further action is required. The OWG also provides a forum for senior managers to discuss operational issues and to coordinate their efforts to address these issues.

Operational Performance Overview

The company's operational performance was strong in 2013, with key metrics such as production volume, quality, and cost all showing positive trends. This was achieved through a combination of factors, including improved operational efficiency, better management of resources, and a focus on continuous improvement.

The company's operational performance was also supported by strong financial performance, with revenue and profit both showing significant growth. This was a result of the company's focus on operational excellence and its ability to manage costs effectively.

The company's operational performance was also a key factor in its success in winning new business, with customers praising the company's reliability and quality of service. This was a result of the company's commitment to operational excellence and its focus on customer satisfaction.

Quality Review

The Quality Review was conducted in 2013 to assess the company's quality management system and to identify areas for improvement. The review was led by the Quality Manager and involved a team of senior managers from across the company. The review found that the company's quality management system was generally strong, but there were some areas where further improvement was needed.

The Quality Review identified several key areas for improvement, including the need to improve the company's quality management system, to enhance the quality of its products and services, and to improve its customer service.

Operational Excellence

The company's Operational Excellence program was launched in 2013 to drive continuous improvement across all areas of the business. The program is based on the principles of Lean Manufacturing and Six Sigma, and aims to reduce waste, improve quality, and increase efficiency.

The company's Operational Excellence program has been a success, with significant improvements in operational performance across all areas of the business. This has resulted in increased productivity, reduced costs, and improved customer satisfaction.

The company's Operational Excellence program is ongoing, and the company is committed to continuing to improve its operational performance in the future.

Operational Excellence Review

The Operational Excellence Review was conducted in 2013 to assess the company's progress against its Operational Excellence goals. The review was led by the Operational Excellence Manager and involved a team of senior managers from across the company. The review found that the company had made significant progress against its Operational Excellence goals, but there were still some areas where further improvement was needed.

The Operational Excellence Review identified several key areas for improvement, including the need to improve the company's Operational Excellence program, to enhance the quality of its products and services, and to improve its customer service. The company is committed to continuing to improve its Operational Excellence program in the future.
