

For a sample SAT Essay to be a good guide in helping you study it must fit each of the following criteria:

1. The essay must be over 400 words in length. Research has found that 90% of essays over 400 words in length receive the highest score of 12.
2. The sample SAT Essay must use scholarly examples. There should be two or three examples with at least one from literature. Examples from history are also good. If an essay uses primarily personal experiences it is not a good guide to helping you learn as SAT graders don't score these as highly as essays that use content learned in school.
3. The essay must be organized into paragraphs. At the minimum there is an introductory paragraph with at least a sentence or two. Then one paragraph to cover each example. And often a short conclusion. If the essay has paragraphs that cover multiple examples it won't score as well and won't serve as a good example for your learning.
4. The essay must make its points explicitly. If you are reading a sample SAT Essay that you must read between the lines to get or re-read in order to understand it is not a good sample for you to learn from.
5. The essay must come with a prompt so that you can see what it takes to follow the prompt. If the essay is given as an example without this critical piece of information there is little you can learn from it.

Cole,2013-12-16 There have been many important changes in the participation of women and men in American society over the past quarter century Tests play a role in those changes by providing evidence of the diverse achievement and proficiency of women and men They aid the learning process and reflect inequalities in opportunity to learn and participate In addition they provide useful information in considering what alternatives in education and work make most sense for individuals and influence views about groups of students educational programs and a wide range of issues For all of these reasons it is important that tests assess fairly and reflect accurately the ways young people are and are not achieving as well as desired The test performance of women and men is a research topic of historical interest and has received much attention in recent years Because of this increased interest there is a great deal of new research and data available The purpose of the study presented in this volume was to review this new information with two objectives in mind to clarify patterns of gender difference and similarity in test performance and related achievements and to see what implications those findings might have for fair assessment and as a corollary examine the assessment process as a possible source of gender differences This study is interested in tests used in education to assess developed knowledge and skill In order to gain a broader view of gender similarity and difference the contributors looked at other types of measures and other characteristics of young women and men Their hope is to contribute to a firmer basis for insuring fairness in tests an objective which is particularly important as the field moves increasingly to new forms of assessment in which there is less experience
