The Theology of Craft and the Craft of Work Jeremy Kidwell, 2016-06-03 An important reconceptualisation is taking place in the way people express creativity work together and engage in labour particularly suggests Kidwell a surprising resurgence in recent years of manual and craft work Noting the wide array of outlets that now market hand made goods and the array of popular books which advocate making as a basis for activism or personal improvement this book seeks to understand how the micro politics of craft work might offer insights for a broader theology of work Why does it matter that we do work which is meaningful excellent and beautiful Through a close reading of Christian scripture The Theology of Craft and the Craft of Work examines the theology and ethics of work in light of original biblical exegesis Kidwell presents a detailed exegetical study of temple construction accounts in the Hebrew bible and the New Testament Illuminating a theological account of craft and employing the ancient vision of good work which is preserved in these biblical texts Kidwell critically interrogates modern forms of industrial manufacture This includes a variety of contemporary work problems particularly the instrumentalisation and exploitation of the non human material world and the dehumanisation of workers Primary themes taken up in the book include agency aesthetics sociality skill and the material culture of work culminating with the conclusion that the church or new temple is both the product and the site of moral work Arguing that Christian worship provides a moral context for work this book also examines early Christian practices to suggest a theological reconceptualisation of work

Shopkeepers and Master Artisans in Nineteenth-Century Europe Geoffrey Crossick, Heinz-Gerhard Haupt, 2016-07-01 First published in 1984 Shopkeepers and master artisans had a striking presence in the history of nineteenth century Europe not only in the development of industrial and urban economies but also the fabric of social life and the politics of protest The experience of 1848 the differing pace of various forms of nationalism and liberalism and at the end of the century the shift towards right wing nationalist or Catholic political movements reflected a developing crisis in the petite bourgeoisie The essays examine the nature of this crisis and ask critical questions about the social relations of the petite bourgeoisie with the developing working classes This book as a whole provides a fresh and integrated approach to the world of these shopkeepers and master artisans and illuminates much else besides in the social history of nineteenth century Europe

Handbook of Ancient Afro-Eurasian Economies Sitta von Reden, 2021-12-20 The second volume of the Handbook describes different extractive economies in the world regions that have been outlined in the first volume A wide range of economic actors from kings and armies to cities and producers are discussed within different imperial settings as well as the tools which enabled and constrained economic outcomes A central focus are nodes of consumption that are visible in the archaeological and textual records of royal capitals cities religious centers and armies that were stationed in some cases permanently in imperial frontier zones Complementary to the multipolar concentrations of consumption are the fiscal tributary structures of the empires vis vis other institutions that had the capacity to extract mobilize and concentrate resources and wealth Larger volumes of state issued coinage in various metals show the new role of coinage in taxation local economic activities and social practices even where textual evidence is absent Given the overwhelming importance of agriculture the volume also analyses forms of agrarian development especially around cities and in imperial frontier zones Special consideration is given to road and water management systems for which there is now sufficient archaeological and documentary evidence to enable cross disciplinary comparative research

Politics and Production in the Early Nineteenth Century Clive Behagg, 2025-11-21 Politics and Production in the Early Nineteenth Century 1990 breaks new ground in understanding the culture of the workplace It addresses debates in social history concerning the nature of the labour process under early capitalism and the language of politics and it draws these debates together in a compelling way It challenges the standard interpretation of the social relations of production in the workshop sector Conflict over work reorganization involved very particular constructions of the social world by both employers and workforce It argues that the social economic and political facets of these constructs are not separable By analysing the rhetoric of justification offered by those attempting to formulate economic change and by those challenging their efforts in the workplace it casts new light on the context within which different notions of political representation evolved in Britain

Homework Eileen Boris, Cynthia R. Daniels, 1989 Homework clarifies the past and present of home based labor using case studies which offer a rich portrait of homework The authors recognize that we must examine the influence of gender race and class to fully comprehend the history of homework taken from back cover
