

Gibbs Reflective Cycle

STAGE 1: Description.

-This stage is about describing the experience. In this section, you state what happened, this could include new experiences, whether personal, professional or academic. Stating the experience or activity is necessary, because it is a factual description of events. Only the facts about what happened with the experience/event should be included in this section. It can include factors such as describing an activity which the individual had an active role in, or if an incident happened when you were playground monitor. It would be beneficial to reflect on an activity where you were placed with an obstacle which you had to overcome, and whether you were able to successfully or unsuccessfully solve the problem.

STAGE 2: Feelings

Unlike a lot of reflective cycles Gibb's reflective cycle includes an aspect of your personal feelings during this reflective experience. This is because as part of Gibb's theory of reflection, he believes that personal feelings influence a situation and how an individual would reflect on the experience. In the feelings section, you would describe how you felt during the experience, whether you noted any strengths or weaknesses of your own personal role whilst conducting the experience/activity. This is an important part of the reflective cycle because it includes your own personal view on your development. However, this section is not always effective for reflection because as it includes your own personal feelings, an individual can make assumptions on how the experience went, rather than it being based on factual events. Including feelings as part of a reflective cycle therefore creates the reflection to be a subjective cycle, opposed to using objectivity that creates an outsiders perception of an event.

STAGE 3: EVALUATION

Within this section it is important to state whether you were able to overcome the obstacle, or if you were unable to problem solve. As part of evaluating the reflective experience it is important to state any positive or negatives of the situation. Were you unprepared for something that occurred, but were you able to positively solve the situation? Or did you require any additional support? Was the activity/experience concluded in a beneficial way, or would you be required to conduct it in a different manner if it was to happen again? Here you simply state the good and bad aspects of the reflective experience, it is important to include both positive and negative parts because both are necessary to show learning and development in your professional role.

Putting Assessment for Learning Into Practice in a Higher Education EFL Context Edmund Michael White, 2009

Improving Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Sinfree Makoni, 2000

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods

Emergence in Science and Philosophy Antonella Corradini, Timothy O'Connor, 2010-06-18 The concept of emergence has seen a significant resurgence in philosophy and the sciences yet debates regarding emergentist and reductionist visions of the natural world continue to be hampered by imprecision or ambiguity Emergent phenomena are said to arise out of and be sustained by more basic phenomena while at the same time exerting a top down control upon those very sustaining processes To some critics this has the air of magic as it seems to suggest a kind of circular causality Other critics deem the concept of emergence to be objectionably anti naturalistic Objections such as these have led many thinkers to construe emergent phenomena instead as coarse grained patterns in the world that while calling for distinctive concepts do not disrupt the ordinary dynamics of the finer grained more fundamental levels Yet reconciling emergence with a presumed pervasive causal continuity at the fundamental level can seem to deflate emergence of its initially profound significance This basic problematic is mirrored by similar controversy over how best to characterize the opposite systematizing impulse most commonly given an equally evocative but vague term reductionism The original essays in this volume help to clarify the alternatives inadequacies in some older formulations and arguments are exposed and new lines of argument on behalf the two visions are advanced

Diversifying the STEM Fields: From Individual to Structural Approaches Rodolfo Mendoza-Denton, Colette Patt, Adrienne R. Carter-Sowell, 2023-02-14 John von Neumann and the Foundations of Quantum Physics Miklós Rédei, Michael Stöltzner, 2013-03-09 John von Neumann 1903 1957 was undoubtedly one of the scientific geniuses of the 20th century The main fields to which he contributed include various disciplines of pure and applied mathematics mathematical and theoretical physics logic theoretical computer science and computer architecture Von Neumann was also actively involved in politics and science management and he had a major impact on US government decisions during and especially after the Second World War There exist several popular books on his personality and various collections focusing on his achievements in mathematics computer science and economy Strangely enough to date no detailed appraisal of his seminal contributions to the mathematical foundations of quantum physics has appeared Von Neumann's theory of measurement and his critique of hidden variables became the touchstone of most debates in the foundations of quantum mechanics Today his name also figures most prominently in the mathematically rigorous branches of contemporary quantum mechanics of large systems and quantum field theory And finally as one of his last lectures published in this volume for the first time shows he considered the relation of quantum logic and quantum mechanical probability as his most important problem for the second half of the twentieth century The present volume embraces both historical and systematic analyses of his methodology of mathematical physics and of the various aspects of his work in the foundations of quantum physics such as theory of measurement quantum logic and quantum mechanical entropy The volume is rounded off by previously unpublished letters and lectures documenting von Neumann's thinking about quantum theory after his 1932 Mathematical Foundations of Quantum Mechanics The general part of the Yearbook contains papers emerging from the Institute's annual lecture series and reviews of important publications of philosophy of science and its history

Autofiction in English Hywel Dix, 2018-06-04 This innovative volume establishes autofiction as a new and dynamic area of theoretical research in English Since the term was coined by Serge Doubrovsky autofiction has become established as a recognizable genre within the French literary pantheon Yet unlike other areas of French theory English language discussion of autofiction has been relatively limited until now Starting out by exploring the characteristic features and definitions of autofiction from a conceptual standpoint the collection identifies a number of cultural historical and theoretical contexts in which the emergence of autofiction in English can be understood In the process it identifies what is new and distinctive about

Anglophone forms of autofiction when compared to its French equivalents These include a preoccupation with the conditions of authorship writing after trauma and a heightened degree of authorial self reflexivity beyond that typically associated with postmodernism By concluding that there is such a field as autofiction in English it provides for the first time detailed analysis of the major works in that field and a concise historical overview of its emergence It thus opens up new avenues in life writing and authorship research
