PHOTOGRAPHIC REGIONAL ATLAS OF BONE DISEASE Robert W. Mann,David R. Hunt,2013-02-01 The Photographic Regional Atlas of Bone Disease is intended to serve the needs of a diverse audience including paleopathologists physical anthropologists and other anthropologists police crime scene technicians medical examiners radiologists anatomists and other medical specialists regardless of training or experience Although originally written as a manual for physical anthropologists it has become a reference for anyone examining skeletal remains or dealing with bone disease especially in dry bone specimens Over the years it has gained in popularity as one of the few required manuals in most skeletal laboratories throughout the U S and in fact many countries The purpose of the book is to bridge the gap between clinical medicine radiology and physical anthropology by providing researchers with a single source and photographic atlas of what they might encounter in one bone or an entire skeletal collection regardless of antiquity or origin Unlike most texts written by clinicians for clinicians or those that focus on one specialty the Regional Atlas was compiled by biological anthropologists using a dry bones approach and simple yet precise terminology based on examination of nearly 10 000 skeletons The authors expertise and diversity in anatomy radiology pathology and human variation provide them with a unique perspective for distinguishing normal variation from pathological conditions The book was written as a basic stand alone reference for bone disease and normal variation It contains black and white photographs and an extensive use of color plates depicting a variety of disease conditions and stages of progression that one might expect to encounter in one or many skeletons The purpose of this text is to provide readers with sufficient information on bone disease and human variation for them to recognize describe and interpret them Once they have identified a disease normal variant or other condition they can turn to the bibliography for references and additional information The Regional Atlas is intended to provide readers with enough information to do their own skeletal analysis It is this dry bones approach combined with the vast experiences of the authors vivid photos and simple terminology that sets the Regional Atlas apart from all others

Regional review on status and trends in aquaculture development in sub-Saharan Africa - 2020 Mapfumo, B.,2022-01-06 This review provides an overview of the status trends challenges and projections for aquaculture in sub Saharan Africa SSA and evaluates the major trends during previous five years While the sector still faces various internal and external challenges the inherent natural potential of the region and rapidly increasing demand for fish has resulted in increased prioritization of aquaculture in almost all SSA countries and the African Union and subsidiary bodies have given special attention to the sector development In order to realize its full potential the SSA region needs to address a combination of overarching factors limiting aquaculture development so far such as ineffective development approaches weak governance frameworks underdeveloped value chains and low availability as well as the high cost of key production inputs Strengthened value chains for tilapia and catfish promotion of new species improved biosecurity continued development of certification and associated harmonized best practices improved information systems and innovations to address climate change related impacts are some of the matters to be addressed Financial institutions and private sector national and international have equally started investing even though in the global picture such interventions may seem negligible which makes the continent to call for more and higher levels technical and financial assistance from international partners Upscale the status of production and productivity via healthy investments would help the sector to generate a variety of benefits including food security livelihoods employment domestic and intra regional markets foreign currency income and other socio economic benefits Empire Unbound Gavin Murray-Miller,2022-05-12 European empires were commonly depicted in bright color coded maps printed during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries that conveyed the expanse of European power across the globe Despite this familiar image of a world divided up into neat imperial enclaves the reality of empire building often told a different story Empire Unbound argues that European empires were never the bounded stable entities that imperialists imagined In examining Mediterranean empire building in a comparative context Gavin Murray Miller demonstrates that the era of new imperialism which arose in the late nineteenth century fostered connections and synergies between regional powers that influenced the trajectories of imperial states in fundamental ways Breaking with conventional national approaches Murray Miller traces the development of France s North African empire noting how empire building relied upon transnational networks and cooperation with Muslims elites across borders just as much as military conquest By looking at the interconnected relationships linking the French British Italian and Ottoman empires from the 1880s through the First World War Empire Unbound proposes a novel spatial framework for imperial studies showing how migrations extraterritorial legal regimes and cross border interactions both abetted and frustrated imperial designs at the turn of the century El-Hi Textbooks in Print ,1984 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1992 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 The Journal of the Manchester Geographical Society Manchester Geographical Society,1887
