Hartman, Bob Klein, 2023-07-11 Highlights innovative partnership practices that help create educational opportunities for students in rural schools across the United States As editors Sara L Hartman and Bob Klein acknowledge rural places have long experienced systemic inequities that decrease rural students access to education yet many rural schools and communities have found creative means to make up for the dearth of outside resources The Middle of Somewhere brings to light a wide variety of partnerships that have been forged between K 12 schools communities and postsecondary institutions to improve educational access The book showcases collaborations that address three different areas of need partnerships that prepare and support teacher candidates and educators who work in rural areas partnerships that extend the work of rural education networks and partnerships that promote equity justice and inclusion within rural populations Using case studies of rural educational partnerships from communities across the United States the book's contributors share their experiences of how strong partnerships have formed both organically and through thoughtful and intentional planning and they recommend supportive strategies for their development and sustainment The contributors also explore the many ways in which university school community partnerships incubate solutions to challenges common to rural education systems such as access to STEM education and higher education The programs featured here may serve as replicable models for practitioners researchers and policy makers who want to enrich the experiences of children in their schools and communities Changing Conceptions, Changing Practices Angela Glotfelter, Caitlin Martin, Mandy Olejnik, Ann Updike, Elizabeth Wardle, 2022-12-28 Changing Conceptions

Changing Practices demonstrates that it is possible for groups of faculty members to change teaching and learning in radical ways across their programs despite the current emphasis on efficiency and accountability. Relating the experiences of faculty from disciplines as diverse as art, history, economics, psychology, and philosophy, this book offers a theory and research based heuristic for helping faculty transform their courses and programs as well as practical examples of the heuristic in action. The authors draw on the threshold concepts framework research in writing studies and theories of learning, leadership, and change to deftly explore why faculty are often stymied in their efforts to design meaningful curricula for deep learning and how carefully scaffolded professional development for faculty teams can help make such change possible. This book is a powerful demonstration of how faculty members can be empowered when professional development leaders draw on a range of scholarship that is not typically connected. In today's climate, courses, programs, and institutions are often assessed by and rewarded for proxy metrics that have little to do with learning, with grave consequences for students. The stakes have never been higher, particularly for public higher education. Faculty members need opportunities to work together using their own expertise and to enact meaningful learning opportunities for students. Professional developers have an important role to play in such change efforts. WAC scholars and practitioners, leaders of professional development and centers for teaching excellence, program administrators, and curriculum committees from all disciplines and faculty innovators from many fields will find not only hope but also a blueprint for action in Changing Conceptions. Contributors: Juan Carlos Albarrán, Jos Amador, Annie Dell'Aria, Kate de Medeiros, Keith Fennen, Jordan A.
