Day by Day Ruth Ayres, Stacey Shubitz, 2023-10-10 Have you ever wanted your own personal writing coach to help improve your teaching of writing? How about two personal writing coaches? In Day by Day Stacey Shubitz and Ruth Ayres, creators of the popular blog Two Writing Teachers, guide you through the trials and tribulations of a whole year of writing workshop. Day by Day is organized around six fundamental components of writing workshop: routines, mini lessons, choice, mentors, conferring, and assessment. Each component is broken down into ten day sections. Each section includes a detailed discussion, a challenge that teachers can apply immediately, and questions to help teachers assess the process to see what went right, what went wrong, and most importantly, why. Ruth and Stacey also provide daily encouragement, support, practical strategies, tips, advice, and everything you need to run an effective writing workshop that meets the needs of all the different writers in your classroom.

Krishna Sobti's Views on Literature and the Poetics of Writing Rosine-Alice Vuille, 2022-10-03 How does a writer discuss her creative process and her views on a writer's role in society? How do her comments on writing relate to her works? The Hindi writer Krishna Sobti (1925-2019) is known primarily as a novelist. However, she also extensively wrote about her views on the creative process, the figure of the writer, historical writing, and the position of writers within the public sphere. This study is the first to examine in detail the relationship between Sobti's views on poetics as exposed in her non-fictional texts and her own literary practice. The writer's self-representation is analysed through her use of metaphors to explain her creative process. Sobti's construction of the figure of the writer is then put in parallel with her idiosyncratic use of language as a representation of the heterogeneous voices of her characters and with her conception of literature as a space where time and memory can be held. At the same time, by delving into Sobti's position in the debate around women's writing, especially through the creation of a male double, the failed writer Hashmat, and into her views on literature and politics, this book also reflects on the literary debates of the post-Independence Hindi literary sphere.

Speedy Reading: Fast Strategies for Teaching GCSE English Literature Post-Lockdown Emma Stott, 2020-11-10 We're often told that there are no quick fixes in teaching. This isn't entirely true. And post-lockdown, we need speedy fixes more than ever to get our students of English back on track. This book will show you how set texts can be reduced in a way that makes them richer. It will reveal how seemingly obscure literary theory can help learners of all abilities achieve rapidly. And it will help us prepare and revise for dreaded unseen texts using the precious days we have with students in the most efficient way. Emma Stott uses her experience as a teacher of early entry students and as a Research Lead to gather eight strategies that enable students to be better readers and critics of literature in general, not just of the same outwardly threadbare set texts. Speedy Reading promises to make you excited about those worn texts, the pleasures of unseen reading, and even about the challenges to come.
