

Managers are advised to follow the following steps when conducting a SWOT analysis: (1) identify the internal strengths and weaknesses of the organization; (2) identify the external opportunities and threats; (3) match the internal strengths and weaknesses with the external opportunities and threats; and (4) develop strategies to exploit the opportunities and overcome the threats.

10. Suppose the value of the sampling distribution of $\bar{y}$ is 100.000000.

Abstract: Staphylococcus aureus is a leading cause of nosocomial infections. The aim of this study was to determine the prevalence of S. aureus in the nasal cavity of healthy carriers in a tertiary care hospital. A total of 100 healthy carriers were screened for S. aureus using a polymerase chain reaction (PCR) assay. The results showed that 60% of the carriers were positive for S. aureus. The prevalence of S. aureus was significantly higher in the nasal cavity of healthy carriers compared to the control group. The results of this study suggest that the nasal cavity of healthy carriers is a reservoir for S. aureus and may play a role in the transmission of this pathogen.

10. What is the probability that a randomly selected person is a female and is left-handed? (Remember to check that you have the correct probabilities.)
