Voicing Code in STEM Pratim Sengupta,Amanda Dickes,Amy Voss Farris,2021-03-09 An exploration of coding that investigates the interplay between computational abstractions and the fundamentally interpretive nature of human experience The importance of coding in K 12 classrooms has been taken up by both scholars and educators Voicing Code in STEM offers a new way to think about coding in the classroom one that goes beyond device level engagement to consider the interplay between computational abstractions and the fundamentally interpretive nature of human experience Building on Mikhail Bakhtin s notions of heterogeneity and heteroglossia the authors explain how STEM coding can be understood as voicing computational utterances rather than a technocentric framing of building computational artifacts Empirical chapters illustrate this theoretical stance by investigating different framings of coding as voicing

Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A. Plucker,Scott J. Peters,2020-01-15 2017 Texas Association for Gifted and Talented Legacy Scholar Book Award 2017 National Association of Gifted Children Scholar Book of the Year Award In Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A Plucker and Scott J Peters shine a spotlight on excellence gaps the achievement gaps among subgroups of students performing at the highest levels of achievement Much of the focus of recent education reform has been on closing gaps in achievement between students from different racial ethnic or socioeconomic backgrounds by bringing all students up to minimum levels of proficiency Yet issues related to excellence gaps have been largely absent from discussions about how to improve our schools and communities Plucker and Peters argue that these significant gaps reflect the existence of a persistent talent underclass in the United States among African American Hispanic Native American and poor students resulting in an incalculable loss of potential among our fastest growing populations Drawing on the latest research and a wide range of national and international data the authors outline the scope of the problem and make the case that excellence gaps should be targeted for elimination They identify promising interventions for talent development already underway in schools and provide a detailed review of potential strategies including universal screening flexible grouping targeted programs and psychosocial interventions Excellence Gaps in Education has the potential for changing our national conversation about equity and excellence and bringing fresh attention to the needs of high potential students from
