During childhood, people in the United Kingdom, like those in most other countries, are not as likely to be vaccinated as people in the United States. In the United Kingdom, the vaccination schedule for children is based on the National Immunisation Schedule, which was developed in 1968. The schedule was revised in 1996, and again in 2000. The 2000 schedule was revised to reflect the results of the National Immunisation Survey, which was conducted in 1998. The survey found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were vaccinated against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis (DTP). However, the survey also found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were not vaccinated against measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR). The results of the survey were used to develop the 2000 schedule, which included MMR as a routine vaccination for children. The 2000 schedule was revised again in 2005, and again in 2008. The 2008 schedule was revised to reflect the results of the National Immunisation Survey, which was conducted in 2006. The survey found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were vaccinated against DTP, but the majority were not vaccinated against MMR. The results of the survey were used to develop the 2008 schedule, which included MMR as a routine vaccination for children. The 2008 schedule was revised again in 2010, and again in 2013. The 2013 schedule was revised to reflect the results of the National Immunisation Survey, which was conducted in 2011. The survey found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were vaccinated against DTP, but the majority were not vaccinated against MMR. The results of the survey were used to develop the 2013 schedule, which included MMR as a routine vaccination for children. The 2013 schedule was revised again in 2015, and again in 2018. The 2018 schedule was revised to reflect the results of the National Immunisation Survey, which was conducted in 2016. The survey found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were vaccinated against DTP, but the majority were not vaccinated against MMR. The results of the survey were used to develop the 2018 schedule, which included MMR as a routine vaccination for children. The 2018 schedule was revised again in 2020, and again in 2022. The 2022 schedule was revised to reflect the results of the National Immunisation Survey, which was conducted in 2020. The survey found that the majority of children in the United Kingdom were vaccinated against DTP, but the majority were not vaccinated against MMR. The results of the survey were used to develop the 2022 schedule, which included MMR as a routine vaccination for children.

The most important findings were consistent: that the 1000-hour rule was followed following licensure in the United States and that those who were not able to do so were more likely to be employed in non-nursing jobs. However, while the 1000-hour rule was followed in other countries, this was not always the case.

1995 was a year of the village? Farmer-herdsman kept some village families' livestock property, instead of the village collective. Herdsman kept their livestock together for the whole year and then in 1996, it changed. Village collectives took control of it and gave a commission to the herdsman to keep livestock for the whole year to use the same system from now on. (P46) Herdsman's family, however, was disappointed & making "strong protest" because herdsman was the village's highest collect income.
