Vimr, 2009 Charles Bukowski's notes of a dirty old man is a genre blurring gender blending start to the perpetual work in progress that constitutes his oeuvre Bukowski's genre heterogeneity provides a literal shape shifting that allows the Bukowski character to experiment with his a fluid indeterminate subjectivity helping unravel the tight myth that binds him as a dirty old man Examining one of the vignettes in the book the column recounting Bukowski meeting Neal

Cassady showcases Bukowski's engagement with autobiography and creative nonfiction in order to respond to constructions of verisimilitude this is inextricably linked to other organized constructions Bukowski must work in or out from namely the hierarchy of gender and masculinities The questions and constructions of realistic genres illuminate the overtly created fictions of social norms This highlights something often overlooked in the scholarly criticism that is Bukowski's explicit creation his overt invention of what others seem to assume is simply his natural direct and honest style Bukowski's commentary on gender especially within the reprinted letters in Notes ties to Bukowski's generic choices Like economics and class genre and gender are not re-produced in an expected or hierarchical fashion in Bukowski's work and Notes is one of many examples of the rhizomatic nature of Bukowski's commentary on literary and social organizations For Bukowski these realms are intricately related

Gatekeepers William Marling, 2016-03-15 The romantic idea of the writer as an isolated genius has been discredited but there are few empirical studies documenting the role of gatekeeping in the literary process How do friends agents editors translators small publishers and reviewers not to mention the changes in technology and the publishing industry shape the literary process This matrix is further complicated when books cross cultural and language barriers that is when they become part of world literature Gatekeepers builds on the work of Pierre Bourdieu Randall Collins James English and Mark McGurl describing the multi layered gatekeeping process in the context of World Literature after the 1960s It focuses on four case studies Gabriel Garc a M rquez Charles Bukowski Paul Auster and Haruki Murakami The two American authors achieved remarkable success overseas owing to canny gatekeepers the two international authors benefited tremendously from well curated translation into English Rich in archival materials correspondence between authors editors and translators and publishing industry analyses interviews with publishers and translators and close readings of translations this study shows how the process and production of literature depends on the larger social forces of a given historical moment William Marling also documents the ever increasing Anglo centric dictate on the gatekeeping process World literature the book argues is not so much a republic of letters as a field of chance on which the conversation is partly bracketed by historic events and technological opportunities
