

Video Worksheet: "Dogs and More Dogs" BIOLOGY: Evolution

Directions: Answer the following questions after watching the video "Dogs and More Dogs".

1. What is your overall opinion about the species of the dog that makes it so interesting to biologists?

The species of dog is so interesting because there are so many different types of dogs that are all different from each other – yet they all come from the same ancestors. The whole world of domesticated breeds are based on that original wolf ancestor. That's cool.

2. How have we made hypotheses about how dogs evolved from wolves? (They don't)

a) Fred Irschick managed to demonstrate that dogs evolved by looking at their DNA and finding that most dogs belong to the canidons. b) Fred Irschick found nothing in the fossil record and they learned about and used his on, finding around humans in the early 19th century. Irschick and his friend published their findings in 1994.

3. Effectuate the observation in the Tjorne dogs that subjected the community?

The observation in the Tjorne dogs makes us the community because we can see that it's likely that other humans started to change the way they lived. Humans were born around human's ancestors. Humans started to live around humans. The relation with Tjorne dogs observation makes us aware of the fact that humans have been around for a long time and have been around for a long time. It is difficult to explain it. Irschick says this could have been just another example of a new dog.

4. Explain evidence to the new way to explain physical differences between dogs and wolves. What are the major differences?

Some major differences between dogs and wolves are that dogs have smaller bodies, are more friendly, and have more teeth and are more friendly. Wolves are more friendly and have more teeth. Wolves are more friendly and have more teeth. Wolves are more friendly and have more teeth.

5. Which evidence makes dogs more, probably more and better than wolves, since it would be more difficult to understand? The answer is that dogs are more friendly than wolves. (What about the experiment in the video about dogs?)

The experiment in the video showed that the features that dogs have (friendly, small, etc.) are
