Abstract

In many cases, a biological hypothesis is a statement of a relationship. These can often be written as simple if-then or because statements. For example, "If a population has a high frequency of a certain allele, then it will have a high frequency of a certain trait." (This is a very simple example, but it illustrates the concept.)

11. "This national-level framework for the classroom supports teachers' efforts to encourage students' identified values. It is a key resource to use with students' identified and shared values."

10. Select the Simulation spreadsheet of the way on the left (Click Page 10) to start settings simulation from scratch (simulation). Click Process cell where the simulation will be set up.
