Sabic Annual Report 2006:

China-Saudi Arabia Relations, 1990-2012 Naser M. Al-Tamimi, 2013-09-05 This book focuses on the relationship established between China the world's second largest economy and Saudi Arabia the world's top oil exporter Due to Saudi Arabia's dominance of the world oil market China is increasingly focusing its attention on the Saudi Arabia as a reliable oil supplier while Saudi Arabia sees China as an enormous potential market and strategic trade partner It investigates both countries motives for establishing a strategic relationship and outlines the potential for successful co operation between them It then goes on to address the wider implications for the United States in the Middle East The Impact of the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act, 18th Report 2005-2006, Inv. 332-227 , The Clean Hydrogen Economy and Saudi Arabia Rami Shabaneh, Jitendra Roychoudhury, Jan Frederik Braun, Saumitra Saxena, 2024-04-18 This book provides a first of its kind analysis of the emerging global hydrogen economy from the vantage point of one of the world's biggest energy providers Saudi Arabia In 2021 and within the context of the Circular Carbon Economy framework Saudi Arabia announced its goal to reach net zero carbon emissions by 2060 and produce a substantial amount of clean hydrogen annually by 2030 The Kingdom is optimally situated geographically between the major demand markets in Europe and North Asia from where it can leverage clean hydrogen exports as a potential tool to become a player of strategic importance and successfully diversify its economy under its Vision 2030 program More broadly the book charts a course for fossil fuel exporting countries such as Saudi Arabia to carve a competitive position for themselves over the forthcoming decades using clean hydrogen as a catalyst for the energy transition With contributions from global energy experts the chapters in this book provide a multifaceted analysis of the who what where and why related to clean hydrogen development within and beyond Saudi Arabia Collectively the contributions analyze the countries and regions relevant to Saudi Arabia in terms of dedicated hydrogen policies projects and approaches that aim to incentivize production and demand in an increasingly carbon constrained world The book is a timely unique and an indispensable resource for practitioners and students of energy geopolitics and climate policy working on hydrogen in academia applied research national government bodies and international organizations The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Annual Report Mu'assasat al-Naqd al-'Arabi al-Sa'udi, 2010 The Arabian Gulf Between Conservatism and Change The Emirates Center for Strategic Studies and Research , 2009-08-04 Since the beginning of the 21st century the Gulf region has been faced political and security related changes and socio economic transformations that have placed enormous pressure on the Gulf countries threatened their internal stability and ultimately left them with two options either continue to follow previous methods and policies or radically change methods policies and institutions in order to preserve these countries existence and further progress and development The Gulf countries have attempted to respond to these changes and challenges by perpetuating their old values policies and institutions by amending and improving them as part of a gradualist approach. However, this approach has not bridged the wide gap between the realities of modern Gulf societies and their aspirations to establish development policies and popular and democratic participation, reform their development models and economic structures, improve educational systems, strengthen social building, enhance cultural movement, and empower women in public life. This book, which comprises the papers presented in the sessions of the 13th ECSSR Annual Conference convened between March 31 and April 2, 2008, discusses the issue of continuity and change in the Gulf region, which is considered both one of the most vital and most problematic current challenges in the region. The book addresses the points of difference and aspects of contradiction that have emerged in a wide sphere among the Gulf countries between conservative and reformist trends in the political, economic, social, cultural, and educational domains.

Industrialization in the Gulf Jean-Francois Seznec, Mimi Kirk, 2010-09-13 In recent years, we have witnessed huge economic and socio-political change in the Gulf. This book examines the rapid industrialization of the region and how local economies are starting to diversify away from petroleum, exploring how this transformative process is starting to impact on the region's economy and social make-up. With contributions from some of the top scholars and practitioners in the area, this book discusses crucial topics related to the region's transformation, from issues of economic development and relations with Iran to foreign labour and women's education and work outside the home. Chapters explore how, in addition to the massive growth in investments and products such as oil, gas, chemicals, metals, and cement, this growth has triggered numerous societal changes, such as labour migration, educational reforms, declining natality, and shifting gender roles. Covering in detail a broad range of issues, this book will appeal not only to Middle East experts, particularly those with an interest in the Persian Gulf, but also to development experts and political scientists.

Leadership Development in the Middle East Beverley Metcalfe, Fouad Mimouni, 2011-01-01 Leadership in the Middle East has never been as vital as it is in the wake of the global financial crisis and the Arab Spring, yet there is a lack of detailed knowledge concerning strategies for developing capacity in leadership, national skills, and knowledge management. This volume aims to address this deficit. This book is the first text on the subject of leadership development in the Middle East to be published in English, drawing on both English and Arabic scholarship, and will contribute to the knowledge and understanding of leadership theory and practice in the global economy. The volume provides in-depth analysis of the social, political, and economic factors that shape leadership capacity-building efforts and shows how leadership behaviours and practices differ from those in the West, reflecting an ethic of care, social responsibility, and concern for developing both organization and individual capabilities, as well as fostering community improvement and nation-building and advancing social justice and human well-being. The book reveals the complexity of leadership behaviours in the region and contextualizes analyses with broader contemporary debates, including migration, governance, climate change, and political leadership succession. The book also includes original insights into the role of women in leadership in business politics and the community This unique volume will benefit international organizational behaviour development specialists international human resource development practitioners and students at undergraduate and postgraduate levels It will be invaluable to development specialists HR consultants and practitioners on assignment in the Middle East and for policy and capacity development experts in NGOs and international organizations such as the ILO UN and World Bank Optimization Approaches for the Design of Realistic Supply Chains Kerstin Baumgartner,2010 Strategy and Entrepreneurship in Arab Countries M.S.S. El Namaki,2007-12-14 The book provides a thorough analysis of strategy formulation at country and company level in Arab countries and corporations It also deals with the issue of entrepreneurial initiative in Arab countries and issues actual practice of entrepreneurship Role of the financial markets especially venture capital and private equity are examined
