

CHARACTER ANALYSIS

To analyze a character, you must find out what makes him/her "tick." Look at the character as you would anyone you meet for the first time. You may notice or learn the following:

- physical traits - what the character looks like, how he/she dresses, how he moves
- psychological/personality traits
- motivation
- behavior /actions
- relationships - with other characters in the story, how others see/react to him/her
- weaknesses/faults
- strengths/virtues
- moral constitution - often a character will agonize over right and wrong
- protagonist/antagonist - does the story revolve around this character's actions?
- complex/simple personality
- history and background
- change - has the character changed during the course of the story? What was his/her motivation? Why?
- similarities and differences of the characters
- Does the character have a function in the story?

NOTE: You also will need to examine how the author presents the character. The following passage will help you understand this. It is from A Handbook to Literature, Sixth edition, by C. Hugh Holman & William Harmon, Macmillan Publishing, New York, 1992.

Characterization is "the creation of imaginary persons so they seem lifelike. There are three fundamental methods of characterization: (1) the explicit presentation by the author of the character through direct exposition, either in an introductory block or more often piecemeal throughout the work, illustrated by action; (2) the presentation of the character in action, with little or no explicit comment by the author, in the expectation that the reader can deduce the attributes of the actor from
