B.V., 2013-11-11 Inspiration for the wireless revolution The big Geneva Telecom 99 exhibition will probably go down in history as the moment when Wireless Application Protocol WAP made its debut in the world A slew of vendors launched their first WAP phones and carriers announced their first WAP services And this time it s Europe that s the frontrunner For once I m not proud to be an American said Larry Ellison the CEO of softwaremaker Oracle in a speech delivered at Telecom 99 Europe is at least 18 months ahead of the United States in deploying WAP The Telecom 99 show could mark the beginning of a bright very bright future for WAP Analysts predict that a significant part of Internet access will be via wireless devices within a few years It s important not to get carried away When the computer industry gets hold of a new concept like WAP it becomes the Next Big Thing Vendors pre announce products and the mass media prints hype When the revolution fails to materialize during the following months the hype will die soon But this time it s different The business case is overwhelming the numbers are staggering and it s the cash loaded telecom industry that is delivering the key products Tribute, 2000

The Journalist, 2002 Spoken Multimodal Human-Computer Dialogue in Mobile Environments Wolfgang Minker, Dirk Bühler, Laila Dybkjær, 2005-02-08 This book is based on publications from the ISCA Tutorial and Research Workshop on Multi Modal Dialogue in Mobile Environments held at Kloster Irsee Germany in 2002 The workshop covered various aspects of development and evaluation of spoken multimodal dialogue systems and components with particular emphasis on mobile environments and discussed the state the art within this area On the development side the major aspects addressed include speech recognition dialogue management multimodal output generation system architectures full applications and user interface issues On the evaluation side primarily usability evaluation was addressed A number of high quality papers from the workshop were selected to form the basis of this book The volume is divided into three major parts which group together the overall aspects covered by the workshop The selected papers have all been tended reviewed and improved after the workshop to form the backbone of the book In addition we have supplemented each of the three parts by an invited contribution intended to serve as an overview chapter Mobile Communications Rich Ling, Per E.

Scott, Rajeev Batra, 2003-04-02 This volume synthesizes and advances existing knowledge of consumer response to visuals

Representing an interdisciplinary perspective contributors include scholars from the disciplines of communication psychology and marketing The book begins with an overview section intended to situate the reader in the discourse The overview describes the state of knowledge in both academic research and actual practice and provides concrete sources for scholars to pursue Written in a non technical language this volume is divided into four sections Image and Response illustrates the difficulty encountered even in investigating the basic influences processes and effects of mere exposure to imagery Image and Word presents instances in which the line between words and pictures is blurred such as the corporate logo which is often pictorial in nature but communicates on an abstract level usually attributed to words Image and the Ad contributes to our appreciation for the exquisite variations among advertising texts and the resultant variability in response not only to different ads but among different viewers of the same ad Image and Object carries the inquiry of visual response over the bridge toward object interaction Having traveled a path that has gone from the precise working of the brain in processing visual stimuli all the way to the history of classical architecture readers of this volume will have a new respect for the complexity of human visual response and the research that is trying to explain it It will be of interest to those involved in consumer behavior consumer psychology advertising marketing and visual communication Creativity in China 曹,2007
