

Amey's Lifestyle is interested in knowing a little more about how you constructed the second column for monthly income. Could you show your work for the first three columns (monthly income, mortgage and a possible salary)? I am assuming that

Variable	Monthly Income	Monthly Expenditure
Monthly Income	1000	100000
Monthly Expenditure	1000	100000
Monthly Expenditure	1000	100000

Amey's interest in showing the second column about your expenditure is that when you build the second column, you can see the relationship between the first and second columns. For example, if the first column is a good place to put your expenditure, you will see the relationship between the first and second columns. If you build the second column, you will see the relationship between the first and second columns. If you build the second column, you will see the relationship between the first and second columns.
