

PLANT REPRODUCTION

Reproduction in Gymnosperms

Gymnosperms are seed-bearing plants that do not produce flowers and fruits. They have a long life span and are mostly found in temperate and boreal regions of the world. They are the only plants that bear naked seeds.

The male gametophyte is borne on a short, woody structure called the strobilus. It is a branched, cone-like structure that bears many small, yellowish pollen grains. The female gametophyte is borne on a long, woody structure called the ovule. It is a single, elongated structure that bears a single egg cell.
