Innovative Approaches for Precise Identification and Control of Ticks and Tick-Borne Pathogens Mourad Ben Said, Rosa Estela Quiroz Castañeda, 2025-04-15 Ticks are efficient vectors for many pathogens including bacteria, protozoa and viruses significantly impacting human and animal health and livestock production. The current problem lies in the need for effective detection, diagnosis and control strategies for ticks and their transmitted pathogens. Recent studies have highlighted the potential of precise molecular and computer vision approaches in identifying tick species and confirming single and mixed natural pathogen infections across various specimens. Advances in genomics and other omics technologies have led to the development of multi epitope vaccines which show promise in controlling ticks and associated tick borne pathogens (TBPs). Despite these advancements, there remains a critical need for further exploration of tick pathogen interactions and the development of novel control strategies. This research topic aims to open submissions in the broad subject area of ticks and tick borne pathogens. Specifically, it seeks to address the precise identification of ticks and tick borne pathogens and the application of meta omics strategies to explore tick pathogen interactions and vaccine targets. The main objectives include developing novel methods for specific detection and improved genetic characterization of ticks and TBPs, evaluating DNA/RNA markers for species identification and designing multi epitope vaccines. Additionally, the research aims to utilize metatranscriptomics and metaproteomics to discover new protein candidates for anti tick and anti TBP vaccination.
