Laboratory Materials

Ordering information is based on a lab size of 24 students, working in groups of 4. A list of supply house addresses appears in Appendix A.

3-D model of composite cell or chart of cell anatomy

24 slides of simple squamous epithelium

24 slides of teased smooth muscle

24 slides of human blood cell smear

24 slides of sperm

24 slides of whitefish blastulae

24 compound microscopes, lens paper, lens cleaning solution, immersion oil

3-D models of mitotic stages

Video or animation of mitosis

Chenille sticks (pipe cleaners), two different colors, cut into 3-inch pieces

Advance Preparation

1. Set out slides (one per student) of simple squamous epithelium, teased smooth muscle, human blood cell smear, sperm, and whitefish blastulae. Students will also need lens paper, lens cleaning solution, immersion oil, and compound microscopes.
2. Set out a model or a lab chart of a composite cell, and models of mitotic stages.
3. Obtain the chenille sticks (pipe cleaners) in two different colors, and cut each into 3-inch pieces. Set out 8 pieces per group, 4 of each color.

Comments and Pitfalls

1. Observing differences and similarities in cell structure often gives students trouble, as many of them have never seen any cells other than epithelial cells. Slides or pictures of these cell types might help.

learning about the human body Data and Text Processing for Health and Life Sciences Francisco M. Couto, 2019-06-10
This open access book is a step by step introduction on how shell scripting can help solve many of the data processing tasks that Health and Life specialists face everyday with minimal software dependencies The examples presented in the book show how simple command line tools can be used and combined to retrieve data and text from web resources to filter and mine literature and to explore the semantics encoded in biomedical ontologies To store data this book relies on open standard text file formats such as TSV CSV XML and OWL that can be open by any text editor or spreadsheet application The first two chapters Introduction and Resources provide a brief introduction to the shell scripting and describe popular data resources in Health and Life Sciences The third chapter Data Retrieval starts by introducing a common data processing task that involves multiple data resources Then this chapter explains how to automate each step of that task by introducing the required commands line tools one by one The fourth chapter Text Processing shows how to filter and analyze text by using simple string matching techniques and regular expressions The last chapter Semantic Processing shows how XPath queries and shell scripting is able to process complex data such as the graphs used to specify ontologies Besides being almost immutable for more than four decades and being available in most of our personal computers shell scripting is relatively easy to learn by Health and Life specialists as a sequence of independent commands Comprehending them is like conducting a new laboratory protocol by testing and understanding its procedural steps and variables and combining their intermediate results Thus this book is particularly relevant to Health and Life specialists or students that want to easily learn how to process data and text and which in return may facilitate and inspire them to acquire deeper bioinformatics skills in the future
