their patients and between educators and health professionals Professionalism means acceptance of professional responsibility for student and patient outcomes not just acceptance of responsibility for technical expertise but commitment to the social norms of the profession including trustworthiness and responsibility for client wellbeing In the past it may have been sufficient to assume that adequate knowledge can be shaped into standards of professional practice Today it is clear that we must take careful account of the ways in which practicing professionals develop internalize and sustain professionalism during their training along with the ways in which this commitment to professionalism may be undermined by the regulatory fiscal technological political and emotional incentive systems that impinge on professional workplaces and professional employment systems
