Chapter 1

Exercise 1.1

1	Term	Description
	nutrition	making more of the same kind of organism
	respiration	removing waste products of metabolism
	growth	a permanent increase in size and dry mass
	excretion	taking in materials for energy, growth and development reproduction	chemical reactions that release energy from nutrient molecules

2 Growth – the plant makes new cells so it increases in size.

Reproduction – gametes are made in the flower, which fuse together to produce a zygote; this is sexual reproduction. (Note: If students have not previously studied reproduction, accept an answer that refers simply to reproduction as making more of the same species.)

Excretion – the plant makes oxygen as a waste product of photosynthesis, and loses it from its leaves.

Sensitivity – the plant senses the direction from which light comes, and the stem and leaves grow towards it.

3 Points that learners may make include:
Birds are living things because they are able to carry out all seven characteristics: they can move of their own accord; they can reproduce; they respire; they are sensitive to changes in their environment; they grow; they excrete; they take in nutrients.

Aeroplanes are able to move, and they also take in 'nutrients', in the form of fuel. They combine oxygen with fuel to provide energy for their movement, which is similar to respiration, and this reaction produces waste products removed in the exhaust, which is similar to excretion. They have sensors that can detect and respond to changes in their environment – for example, they may have lights that come on automatically when light intensity in their surroundings falls below a particular level. However, aeroplanes do not grow, and they are not able to reproduce. Because aeroplanes are not able to carry out all seven characteristics, they are not alive.

Disputed Inheritance Gregory Radick, 2023-08-18 A root and branch rethinking of how history has shaped the science of genetics In 1900 almost no one had heard of Gregor Mendel Ten years later he was famous as the father of a new science of heredity genetics Even today Mendelian ideas serve as a standard point of entry for learning about genes The message students receive is plain the twenty first century owes an enlightened understanding of how biological inheritance really works to the persistence of an intellectual inheritance that traces back to Mendel's garden Disputed Inheritance turns that message on its head As Gregory Radick shows Mendelian ideas became foundational not because they match reality little in nature behaves like Mendel's peas but because in England in the early years of the twentieth century a ferocious debate ended as it did On one side was the Cambridge biologist William Bateson who in Mendel's name wanted biology and society reorganized around the recognition that heredity is destiny On the other side was the Oxford biologist W F R Weldon who admiring Mendel's discoveries in a limited way thought Bateson's Mendelism represented a backward step since it pushed growing knowledge of the modifying role of environments internal and external to the margins Weldon's untimely death in 1906 before he could finish a book setting out his alternative vision is Radick suggests what sealed the Mendelian victory Bringing together extensive archival research with searching analyses of the nature of science and history Disputed Inheritance challenges the way we think about genetics and its possibilities past present and future Gaither's Dictionary of Scientific Quotations Carl C.
