Record, 1999 Marijuana Federalism Jonathan H. Adler, 2020-03-17 On marijuana there is no mutual federal state policy will this cause federalism to go up in smoke More than one half the 50 states have legalized the use of marijuana at least for medical purposes and about a dozen of those states have gone further legalizing it for recreational use Either step would have been almost inconceivable just a couple decades ago But marijuana remains an illegal controlled substance under a 1970 federal law so those who sell or grow it could still face federal prosecution How can state and federal laws be in such conflict And could federal law put the new state laws in jeopardy at some point This book an edited volume with contributions by highly regarded legal scholars and policy analysts is the first detailed examination of these and other questions surrounding a highly unusual conflict between state and federal policies and laws Marijuana Federalism surveys the constitutional issues that come into play with this conflict as well as the policy questions related to law enforcement at the federal versus state levels It also describes specific areas such as banking regulations in which federal law has particularly far reaching effects Readers will gain a greater understanding of federalism in general including how the division of authority between the federal and state governments operates in the context of policy and legal disputes between the two levels This book also will help inform debates as other states consider whether to jump on the bandwagon of marijuana legalization

Understanding Flood Preparedness Jarosław Działek, Wojciech Biernacki, Roman Konieczny, Łukasz Fiedeń, Paweł Franczak, Karolina Grzeszna, Karolina Listwan-Franczak, 2019-01-01 The book looks at the factors influencing the level of preparedness of communities exposed to flooding It is based on original research carried out in twelve areas in southern Poland that suffered serious flood damage in the past thirty years The underlying research was intended on the one hand to verify modern concepts explaining the behaviour of people who were exposed to natural hazards and on the other to explore the influence of the local natural social historical and economic contexts that could modify that behaviour The book has three main threads the social memory of floods and their image as it evolves in time the influence of social and economic conditions social vulnerability on the preparedness to take on flood mitigation measures and the role of risk communication in strengthening flood resilience The main body of the work is based on 1 surveys carried out among the flood affected population and members of local crisis services 2 interviews with the flood affected population and with members of administration and services Police Fire Dept with a history of rescue missions and 3 an analysis of social media content and of local administration and government agency websites and land use planning documents The primary data collected by the authors was supplemented by statistics on the impact of floods occurring in the study areas The data is presented in tables graphs and maps for easier comprehension The book is aimed at researchers and students as well as at practitioners interested in risk perception flood memories social vulnerability resilience studies social capacity building risk communication education
