

7th Grade

This four station program, called "Copernik Observatory Days (KODC)" utilizes a variety of our equipment and activities. Schools are invited to choose from a variety of stations such as, our telescopes (very popular), inflatable planetarium, 3D projector called DecoWell, electronic kits, and snap-covers. This program introduces a large group of students to fun science and engineering activities. These lessons may include some of our standard lessons but will also include new lessons developed at the Teacher Summer Workshop. The entire 7th grade from both districts will participate in this event.

Scientific Skills Lab 8th Grade

For the 8th grade students, we will conduct our well tested Scientific Skills Lab. This lab has four different stations that reinforce important scientific skills. Students perform various tasks such as; measuring field-of-view under a microscope, classifying household objects, graphing momentum of a golf ball and identifying a metal using density. These stations provide a critical parallel task for the NYSE 8th Grade Performance Test.

Conclusion

The rationale for KODC staff working with schools to enhance their teaching methods is based on several principles. One is that effective teaching is derived from a sound plan that is utilizes proper equipment and is implemented by caring well-trained staff. Secondly, the needs of the students are faithfully secured by focusing on the development of proper instruction. This is accomplished by the development of a program that is aligned with the districts curriculum. Finally, these activities must involve students, teachers, and administrators by making them feel part of the whole project.

Brief Summary

Copernik staff will work with teachers from two rural districts to help implement a series of science activities that will provide critically needed science instructions for grades 5-8. Teachers will design new programs and modify some of our existing programs in a two day summer workshop. Copernik staff and teachers from participating districts will then co-teach a series of classes and labs. The vast majority of activities will take place in 8th grade because the school districts have stated this grade level is of great need of intervention. Both districts have observed student interest and skills dropping off at this grade. The programs will be assessed with pre-tests and post-tests as well as student surveys. After completion of the year, we will seek funding from local corporations to maintain and expand these programs to other school districts. Although, KODC already conducts various programs with both districts, these programs are very introductory and cursory in nature. We believe that a more continued presence at both districts will provide more significant help for these underserve rural students.

STEM Learning Mesut Duran, Margret Höft, Brahim Medjahed, Daniel B. Lawson, Elsayed A. Orady, 2015-11-06 This book reports the results of a three year research program funded by the National Science Foundation which targeted students and teachers from four Detroit high schools in order for them to learn experience and use IT within the context of STEM IT STEM and explore 21st century career and educational pathways The book discusses the accomplishment of these goals through the creation of a Community of Designers an environment in which high school students and teachers undergraduate graduate student assistants and STEM area faculty and industry experts worked together as a cohesive team The program created four project based design teams one for each STEM area Each team had access to two year round IT STEM enrichment experiences to create high quality learning projects strategies and curriculum models These strategies were applied in after school weekend and summer settings through hands on inquiry based activities with a strong emphasis on non traditional approaches to learning and understanding The book represents the first comprehensive description and analysis of the research program and suggests a plan for future development and refinement

Revealing the Inner Worlds of Young Children Robert N. Emde, Dennis P. Wolf, David Oppenheim, 2003-09-25 This book reports the work of a 20 year collaboration between a multidisciplinary group of clinicians and developmental scientists who have created and investigated a new tool to elicit and analyze children s narratives This tool is the MacArthur Story Stem Battery a systematic collection of story beginnings that are referred to as stems These stems are designed to elicit information from children about their representational worlds This method is particularly exciting because using it allows developmental psychologists and others to gain information directly from children about their emotional states and what they are able to understand and in turn to use this information to explore significant emotional differences among children This work will appeal to researchers and practitioners in developmental and clinical psychology
