Dying Is Not Death Lee Hoinacki, 2007-01-01
Dying Is Not Death examines from a traditional humanistic position the act of dying The author views death as a universal experience that can and perhaps should force us to explore various technological intrusions upon it Each chapter is an independent narrative and some chapters tell stories of those struggling to die when confronted with the medical system s technological artifacts Recounting different persons experiences of death Lee Hoinacki suggests that the medical system s conventional approaches to dying and death can distort our preparation for this most important experience Borrowing from Jacques Ellul and Ivan Illich Hoinacki acknowledges technology as an all embracing system with powerful symbolic effects on the human condition and argues to a conflict between faith and technology Indeed with Ellul he holds that in order to criticize technology one must find some place outside the technological milieu that would act as a kind of Archimedean lever One must somehow get to the Beyond to judge where one stands in the world

Summary: The Power of Minds at Work BusinessNews Publishing, 2014-09-29. The must-read summary of Karl Albrecht's book The Power of Minds at Work: Organizational Intelligence in Action. This complete summary of the ideas from Karl Albrecht's book The Power of Minds at Work shows that when intelligent people are assembled in an organisation, they will tend towards collective stupidity. In his book, the author explains that in order to offset this law, organisational intelligence is needed. In practical terms, organisational intelligence is the antidote to collective stupidity and a deliberate effort to multiply and take advantage of the collective brainpower of everyone involved. This summary offers seven key traits of organisational intelligence that you can adapt and apply to ensure that your company is free from collective stupidity. Added value of this summary: Save time. Understand key concepts. Expand your knowledge. To learn more, read The Power of Minds at Work and find out how you can implement key traits into your business that will ensure the effectiveness of your intelligent employees.

Unpalatable Carrie Helms Tippen, 2025-01-15. The cookbook genre is highly conventional, with an orientation toward celebration and success. From glossy photographs to heartwarming stories and adjective-rich ingredient lists, the cookbook tradition primes readers for pleasure. Yet the overarching narrative of the region is often one of pain, loss, privation, exploitation, poverty, and suffering of various kinds. While some cookbook writers go to great lengths to avoid reminding readers of this painful past, others invoke that pain as a marker of southern authenticity. Still others use stories of southern suffering as an opportunity to make space for reconciliation, reparation, or apology for past wrongs. In Unpalatable: Stories of Pain and Pleasure in Southern Cookbooks, author Carrie Helms Tippen attempts to understand the unique rhetorical situation of the southern cookbook as it negotiates a tension between the expectations of the genre and the prevailing metanarratives of the southern experience: one focused on pleasure and the other rooted in pain.

Through an analysis of commercially published southern cookbooks from the 1990s to the present Tippen examines the range of rhetorical purposes and strategies writers have employed some of which undermine the reality of a painful past and cause harm or violence and others which serve as tools for truth and reconciliation
