African Borders, Conflict, Regional and Continental Integration

Inocent Moyo, Christopher Changwe Nshimbi, 2019-04-25 This book looks at the ways African borders impact war and conflict as well as the ways continental integration could contribute towards cooperation peace and well being in Africa African borders or borderlands can be a source of problems and opportunity There is often a historical geospatial and geopolitical architecture rooted in trajectories of war conflict and instability which could be transformed into those of peace regional and continental integration and development An example is the cross border and regional response to the Boko Haram insurgency in West Africa This book engages with cross border forms of cooperation and opportunity in Africa It considers initiatives and innovations which can be put in place or are already being employed on the ground within the current regional and continental integration projects Another important element is that of cross border informality which similarly provides a ready resource that if properly harnessed and regulated could unleash the development potential of African borders and borderlands Students and scholars within Geography International Relations and Border Studies will find this book useful It will also benefit civil society practitioners policymakers and activists in the NGO sector interested in issues such as migration social cohesion citizenship and local development

Africa Water Atlas

United Nations Environment Programme, 2010 This Africa Water Atlas is a visual account of Africa's endowment and use of water resources revealed through 224 maps and 104 satellite images as well as some 500 graphics hundreds of compelling photos plus a brief profile of the water situation in every country These visual elements vividly illustrate a succinct narrative describing and analysing Africa's water issues and exemplifying them through the judicious use of case studies The Atlas tells the paradoxical story of a continent with adequate renewable water resources but unequal access because the water is either abundant or scarce depending on the season or the place it explores the opportunities to develop Africa's untapped water resources and human capacities to deliver safe drinking water and sanitation services to achieve the water related Millennium Development Goals As well as hydropower and irrigation services that help support livelihoods and boost economic development

Social and Legal Theory in the Age of Decoloniality Artwell Nhemachena, Victor Warikandwa, 2018-06-07 Right from the enslavement era through to the colonial and contemporary eras Africans have been denied their human essence portrayed as indistinct from animals or beasts for imperial burdens Africans have been historically dispossessed and exploited Postulating the theory of global jurisprudential apartheid the book accounts for biases in various legal systems norms values and conventions that bind Africans while affording impunity to Western states Drawing on contemporary notions of animism transhumanism posthumanism and science and technology studies the book critically interrogates the possibility of a jurisprudence of anticipation which is attentive to the emergent New World Order that engineers human beings to become nonhumans while nonhumans become humans Connecting discourses on decoloniality with jurisprudence in the areas of family law environment indigenisation property migration constitutionalism employment and labour law commercial law and Ubuntu the book also juggles with emergent issues around Earth Jurisprudence ecocentrism wild law rights of nature Earth Court and Earth Tribunal Arguing for decoloniality that attends to global jurisprudential apartheid this tome is handy for legal scholars and practitioners social scientists civil society organisations policy makers and researchers interested in transformation decoloniality and Pan Africanism

Africa's Gene Revolution Matthew A. Schnurr, 2019-11-07 As development donors invest hundreds of millions of dollars into improved crops designed to alleviate poverty and hunger Africa has emerged as the final frontier in the global debate over agricultural biotechnology The first data driven assessment of the ecological social and political factors that shape our understanding of genetic modification Africa's Gene Revolution surveys twenty years of efforts to use genomics based breeding to enhance yields and livelihoods for African farmers Matthew Schnurr considers the full range of biotechnologies currently in commercial use and those in development including hybrids marker assisted breeding tissue culture and genetic engineering Drawing on interviews with biotechnology experts alongside research conducted with more than two hundred farmers across eastern western and southern Africa Schnurr reveals a profound incongruity between the optimistic rhetoric that accompanies genetic modification technology and the realities of the smallholder farmers who are its intended beneficiaries Through the lens of political ecology this book demonstrates that the current emphasis on improved seeds discounts the geographic social ecological and economic contexts in which the producers of these crops operate Bringing the voices of farmers to the foreground of this polarizing debate Africa's Gene Revolution contends that meaningful change will come from a reconfiguration not only of the plant's genome but of the entire agricultural system
