
NCLE Basic Exam Study Guide 2024 with Complete Solutions

Diffused Illumination - ANSWER--Uses widest slit, longest aperture

- Light source positioned at an angle of 40° - 50°
- Used to view overall areas, to observe the ocular adnexa, cornea, sclera, lids, conjunctiva, lens surface, and CL fitting characteristics

Direct Illumination - ANSWER--Most important/useful illumination

- Light source positioned at an angle of 40° - 50° to oculars
- Light beam and oculars are focused in coincidence on area being evaluated
- The difference in the illumination is not the angle used, but where the beam is directed or focused and the width
- Varying width and aperture creates different illuminations

Optic(al) Section - ANSWER--Type of direct illumination that uses a narrow beam to create a cross-section of the cornea

- Used to illuminate and observe individual layers of the cornea and tear film
- Used to evaluate corneal thickness, thinning, distortions, or depth of a foreign body
- Shows corneal-lens relationship

Parallelepiped - ANSWER--Type of direct illumination

- Uses a 0.5-3.0 mm beam and a 40° - 50° angle to create a 3-D cube
- Used to assess width, depth, and height of an object within the cornea
- Useful in observing scars, infiltrates, staining, and the corneal-lens relationship

Indirect Illumination - ANSWER--Light source is moved out-of-click, the beam is 2-3 mm wide and is positioned next to the area being studied

- Illuminated area is translucent or opaque, allowing for observation adjacent to illumination
- Used to observe foreign bodies, corneal nerves, and opacities
- Oscillation of light accentuates details

Retroillumination - ANSWER--Light source is out-of-click, moved to the side of the area being observed

- Using a 1-3 mm beam, the light is reflected off the iris and used to back-light the area studied
- Useful in examining corneal scars, debris, microcysts, scratches on the lens, sub-epithelial changes, corneal vascularization, diffuse edema, and surface deposits
