

Moon Note-Taking Guide

Why do we see the same face of the moon?

Because the moon rotates around its own axis at the same rate that it orbits Earth, we always see the same side of the moon. This is called synchronous rotation. The moon's rotation period is 27.3 days, and its orbital period is 27.3 days. This is a result of the fact that the moon's rotation and orbital periods are the same. This is why we always see the same face of the moon.

The Moon

The moon is the only natural satellite of Earth. It is a rocky body that orbits Earth at an average distance of 384,400 kilometers (238,855 miles). The moon's surface is covered in craters, mountains, and valleys. It is the only celestial body in the solar system that we can see with the naked eye.

The moon's phases are caused by the relative positions of the Earth, the moon, and the Sun. As the moon orbits Earth, the amount of the moon's surface that is illuminated by the Sun changes. This creates the different phases of the moon that we see from Earth.

The phases of the moon are: New Moon, Waxing Crescent, First Quarter, Waxing Gibbous, Full Moon, Waning Gibbous, Last Quarter, and Waning Crescent. Each phase lasts for about a week.

The moon's phases are important for many reasons. They are used to track time and to predict the tides. They are also important for many cultures and religions.
